Boise Young Professionals (BYP) is hosting “For the Love of Politics,” on Wednesday, February 24, 6:00-7:30 pm at the Auditorium in the Idaho State Capitol Building.

“For the Love of Politics” is an annual event that encourages young professionals to engage in local and state issues that impact their lives. As the state struggles to find budget solutions in down economy, young professionals are also facing difficult choices ahead. This year’s “For the Love of Politics” will focus on Idaho’s 2010 state budget and the difficult decisions surrounding it.

Idaho Public Television’s Thanh Tan will moderate the panel which will include:

- Shelby Kerns, Financial Management Analyst at Division of Financial Management,
- Roger Brown, Financial Management Analyst at the Division of Financial Management, and Special Assistant to the Governor
- Representative Shirley Ringo, Joint Finance and Appropriation Committee,
- Representative Brent Crane, House Business and House State Affairs Committee
